

The Not So Crabby Crab

There once was a crab named Crabby. Which was funny because he wasn't crabby at all. He was actually a very happy crab. Then he found out he had no food under his rock. So Crabby went out in search of food. He saw his neighbor Chad the crab. They high fived claws then Crabby went on his way. Crabby then saw his neighbor Penny. They talked and they talked until they were done.

Crabby continued in search of food.
Then a big wave pulled him into the ocean. He tumbled and tumbled until the wave stopped. The dizzy crab noticed he was by a piece of seaweed. The seaweed said hey were did you come from?
From the tidal pools of course. I was in search for food when a big wave pulled me into the ocean.

Don't you crabs eat seaweed?
Asked the seaweed. Yes we do said Crabby. Well look around said Sammy seaweed. As far as Crabby could see was fields of yummy green seaweed. Sammy said help yourself. Crabby snipped what he could and thanked Sammy seaweed. The small crab headed for the tidal pools.

After a long journey he saw his friends Chad and Penny. They were shocked at all the seaweed Crabby had brought. Being a friendly crab (not crabby at all) he offered his friends some food.

The three of them sat eating seaweed talking about Crabby's adventure. Mission complete.
