

Wishing for a Snowday!

Everyone loves a snowday.

Especially me! Snowdays are fun because I get to stay home and play. I also like to watch the snow fall out of the sky.

Everytime in the night I listen to the news to see if we might have a snowday. Some clues they might say are "Wells Elementary School is closed" or "everyone stay home." It's hard to pack our school bags when we are wishing for a snowday.

Noah and I do some stuff that we think will help our snow day wish. We wear our jammies inside out and sleep with a spoon under our pillow. The next morning we wake up early when the phone rings.

No school! We are all excited to go back to bed. It's fun to spend the ^{day in} our jammies, watch TV and spend time with my family. At the end of the day we are sad. The snow-day is over.
