

The best job!

The best job in the world is a custodian. Do you know how I know, because I'm one. It's really hard at the beginning of the days because you have to clean up all the mud in the hallways and the mittens that people have lost. Some other hard parts are you have to clean the bathrooms clean up the raisin fights and pick off the gum under the tables. But.... there is also the best parts about a custodian job that you can do after school, you can go up and down the elevators, sing in the intercoms, ride scooters in the gym. Play the drums in the music room, and when you are plowing outside you can also build a snowman.
